LeadingAge[®]

LeadingAge is the only state-national association with a broad perspective on the aging services field—so we understand your complex needs and ways to help you thrive.

We focus on the issues that matter most to you: innovative workforce and funding models, critical federal and state policy, and new approaches to bolster a business-savvy sector.

Your LeadingAge membership investment includes:

A team fighting for effective state and federal advocacy.

Every day we leverage the power of 5,400+ provider members as we work to remove barriers to care and improve funding for the sector. With experts in Washington, DC, and in state capitals around the country, we've got the bench strength to drive real change.

Peers and partners in problem-solving like no other.

Your job requires a special mix of ingenuity, vision, and compassion. At LeadingAge you can expand your professional network and access vital information. Our members value connecting to exchange knowledge, share resources, and solve problems as only like-minded leaders can.

Solutions to your most critical challenges and growth opportunities.

Members gain exclusive access to time-saving tools, innovative ideas, and research-backed guidance that help your team fast-track solutions for recruitment, retention, compliance, culture, technology, new models, alliances, governance, and more.

Career-advancing education, leadership development, and events.

Deepen your impact with free, exclusive, or discounted access to high-level professional development, including the LeadingAge Annual Meeting, Leadership Summit, state conferences, online learning, and our signature Leadership Academy.

“I definitely see the return on investment of engaging as a LeadingAge member.”

— Lois Mills, Chief People Officer, Otterbein

We're stronger together.

The LeadingAge network spans the nation and the aging services continuum, including life plan communities, home health, skilled nursing, assisted living, affordable housing, continuing care at home, adult day, PACE programs, hospice, and more. Our members pool their experience and talent to drive transformational change across the aging services sector.

Your dues deliver membership in both your state and the national association. You benefit from learning, connecting, and advocating with peers near you and across the nation.

“My years as a LeadingAge member have been the most beneficial, rewarding, and growth-filled of my career. It’s extremely valuable being around people who are living the same reality, but who look at things very differently. I’ve built a network of people that I can rely on and who are sounding boards and lifelong friends.”

—Jeff Weatherhead, CEO/President
